President Palma of Cuba s: cated the government palace vana yesterday and Secretary will move in; the retiring Pr took his departure from Havana amid hearty cheers from people who knew of his leaving; the disarmament of the insurgents is proceeding without a hitch, although there is a hint of trouble at Cienfuegos——At Washington yesterday Gen. Funston was named for commander of the forces to be sent to Cuba; eleven transports have been chartered and will sail from Newport News with troops and cavalry horses; the length of time of intervention is not given out at Washington but Magroon has been appointed governor of Cuba and President Roosevelt declares that this country has no idea of annexing that country——Judge Alton B. Parker yesterday in New York gave out a reply to the attack of William Randolph Hearst upon him, scoring Hearst for his false and scandalous misrepresentation——President Roosevelt yesterday received the officers of an Italian cruiser now visiting United States ports——The Red Cross Society is soliciting funds for the storm sufferers at Mobile, Pensacola and other Gulf coast places——Charles S. Peacock was yesterday taken from Norfolk to Smithfield, N. C., to be tried for murder and robbery——Lieutenant Lahm, of the United States cavalry was declared winner of the balloon race across the English channel——Seven hundred North Carolina and Virginia tobacco growers are meeting at Danville to take steps to hold up the price of bright tobacco——New York markets: Money on call firm, 4 1-2 to 6 per cent., ruling rate, 5 1-2; closing bid 5 1-2, offered at 6; spot cotton 30 points advance, closing quiet at 10.55; flour steady but quiet, wheat easy, No. 2 red, 79 elevator; corn steady, No. 2, 56 elevator; oats steady mixed, 37 1-2; turpentine firm, 65 1-4 to 65 3-4; rosin steady; strained common to good 4.15.

What's in a name? The Moderate partly in Cuba has been pried loose from its jole for being immoderate.

The European powers needn't take the trouble to "recognize" Taft's new provisional government in Cuba.

It appears taht Mr. Hughes, the Republican candidate for Governor of New York, was not wholly disinterested in his prosecution of the insurance grafters. It is said he received a fee of $25,000 for his services.

The Japanese are said to have "taken to canning sardines. First thing you know they will be canning sturgeon and the like and putting the salmon label on it after the manner of some of our "home industry" hustlers.

Secretary Taft has "won the hearts of the Cubans." At the same time it is just as well to have some 4,000 marines and 6,000 soldiers to show that he will take more heart in putting Cuba on its legs.

If the administration can keep Taft in Cuba a couple of years he won't have time to study up any more devilment like his suggestion that a standpat tariff could be reformed for the benefit of the people without detriment to the government revenues.

From the movements of ships and troops, one would suppose President Roosevelt expected a great war in Cuba. Two thousand regular troops will be ample both for pacification and assimilation.

When President Roosevelt read about those sixteen ballonists racing across the English Channel from France to England, he perhaps had his regret that his present engagements prevented him from being in the race.

A cablegram on Monday says the American officials in Havana have sent for their wives. Maybe those officials hate to have a dull time, as the cablegram also said "everything is now quiet in Havana."

A Philadelphia doctor declares his opinion as an expert that the excessive smoking of cigarettes makes liars out of boys. Judging from their campaign prevarications we should say that Republican spielers generally sucked thousands of "coffin tacks" when they were boys.

AUDIT AND FINANCE

Regular Semi-Monthly Meeting of the City Board Held Last Night.

NO MATTERS OF INTEREST

Building of Retaining Wall on Lower South Front Street—Public Library Improvements—Several Contracts Awarded—Other Business.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Audit and Finance last night was of no special interest. There were present Chairman H. C. McQueen and Messrs. C. W. Yates and R. H. Brady. It was nearly 9 o'clock before Mr. Yates came in to complete the quorum and for a time the indications were that there would be no meeting.

Nearly three quarters of an hour of the earlier part of the session was taken up in considering the question of building a retaining wall for the filling of a ravine by the roadway near Front and Dawson streets, which is declared dangerous to traffic along that thoroughfare. The matter has been in the hands of Alderman Brown, who was present last night with bids from H. W. Ingram, who agreed to put up the wall, the city to furnish material, for $2.35 per cubic yard, and from J. R. Threatt, who bid $2.75 per cubic yard, on the same basis. Alderman Brown stated that the pile of cobble stone in the City Hall yard would be nearly sufficient to do the work but that the city would have to buy lime and some other additional material. It was estimated that the wall would cost all toll not less than $1,500. However, this was an unknown quantity to the Board and the matter was referred back to Alderman Brown to get the exact figures after which it was stated that the Board would consider the matter in the light of the revenue in sight.

Chairman Price, of the Library Commitee, was before the Board with several minor contracts for placing the second floor of the City Hall in shape for the public library, which he stated had already been moved into the building. Inasmuch as the work came out of the appropriation already made, it was held that it was not necessary for the Board to concur in the amounts.

An official communication from the City Clerk and Treasurer, transmitting officially the matters from the Board of Aldermen requiring concurrence by the Board of Audit and Finance, was read. The Board declined to act upon the application of the Fraternal Order of Eagles to exempt from taxation certain shows, etc., to be included in a carnival which it is proposed to hold in this city during October or November, the refusal being on the ground that the Board had no right to exempt anyone from taxation, that matter being entirely in the hands of the legislative department of the city.

Action of the Aldermen in appropriating $250 for the laying of a drain pipe at Sixth Street Bridge, which was recently undermined by a heavy rain storm, was concurred in.

Contract with Vrans Swann for the removal of the old Fifth Ward Hook and Ladder Hall to southwest corner of Fifth and Castle streets, same to be used as a public market, was concurred in, the amount named being $568 and the contractor to furnish a sufficient bond.

The Board approved the award of the contracts for police uniforms and for 2,000 feet of extra fire hose. Bid of J. A. Gregory for doing the plumbing in the public library at $51 was also approved.

Interest coupons amounting to $340, which had been paid, were burned as required by law.

The Board adjourned subject to call of the chairman.

THE COTTON SEASON

Receipts Continue Very Much Less Than Last Season But Things Are Looking Up—Larger Steamers Being Brought Here.

Although the receipts of cotton at Wilmington since the beginning of the new crop year on September 1st., have not been more than half what they were up to a corresponding period at this port last year, it is expected that under the stimulus of the advanced market within the past two days, the staple will be coming in quite lively now and that the wharf will begin to present an old-time autumn appearance.

The monthly stock report as posted at the Chamber of Commerce shows that up to October 1st, only 34,849 bales had been received for the new crop year against 67,748 up to the same date last year. The foreign exports up to the first of October were only 12,796 bales against 43,175 bales in September, 1905. The stocks as posted at the first of the month showed 22,084 ashore and afloat on October 1st., as compared with 35,685 bales on the first of the same month last season. This week, however, the staple is coming in with a rush and the daily receipts are almost as high as they were last year. The Champion Compress is working all day and at least a part of the night to meet the demand of the big steamers lying at the docks and the season seems very well under way. It is noticeable that the class of steamers being brought here this year by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Sons are of rather heavier tonnage than last season, this being made possible by the very extensive improvements at the presses this year.

The naval store receipts at the port continue to show a slight falling off from last season in all items except crude turpentine in which there is an increase of something like 5,000 barrels.

A DEAL IN HOTELS.

The Greshams Buy Hamlet and Florence, S. C., Houses.

The Charlotte Chronicle understands that C. Gresham and Sons have purchased the hotel at Hamlet from Mr. John M. Jamison and will purchase the hotel at Florence, S. C., from Mr. Brasington. The papers turning over the hotel at Florence to Mr. Gresham will, it is stated, be signed this afternoon. The deal for the hotel at Hamlet amounts to $92,000.

Mr. Gresham is one of the most successful business men in the State and for years has been before the public, being interested in large financial investments.

As was stated in the Chronicle of yesterday, Jamison & Gresham, the well-known hotel firm, has been dissolved. The dissolution took place some time ago and Mr. J. M. Jamison has had charge of the hotel at Hamlet since.

The new deal will be of great interest throughout the State.

TRAGEDY AT MAXTON.

Aged Undertaker Found Dead in His Shop Yesterday.

Maxton, Oct. 2.—Mr. Albinus McLean was found dead in his undertaking establishment this morning about 9 o'clock. Some one noticed his place was closed and going to the back door found Mr. McLean lying on the floor in a pool of blood. He had been shot in the head. Who did the shooting is a mystery. The suicide theory has been put aside.

So far it is unknown when he was last seen alive, whether Saturday or Sunday night, the reports as to this are conflicting. From the position in which the body was found and its condition it is evident that he was murdered and had been dead at least two days. He had evidently been eating a meal, as he was lying by a box on which was a cup of coffee about half gone and some scraps of food.

No motive has yet been ascertained for the deed. McLean lived at his shop and cooked his own meals in it. He was about 75 years old.

Arthur Morris Leslie Dead.

Arthur Morris Leslie, a young painter of this city, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Leslie, Seventh and Dawson streets, died yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock of peritonitis, following an operation some time ago at the James Walker Memorial Hospital. He was about 22 years of age and is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters. The funeral will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning from the Chapel of the Good Shepherd and the remains will be laid to rest in Bellevue.

COLLECTOR IS HELD

Internal Revenue Man Refused to Answer Question in the State Court.

THE CASE AT NEWBERN

Wouldn't Tell if Alleged Blind Tiger Had Applied For U. S. License—Interesting Bank Decision By the Supreme Court.

(By Associated Press.)

Raleigh, N. C., October 2.—Internal Revenue Collector E. C. Duncan, of the Raleigh district, is to-night in custody of the sheriff of Craven county at Newbern because he refused to answer questions put to him while on the witness stand by Solicitor Larry I. Moore in regard to the granting of liquor license to L. B. Habicht, who was on trial for selling liquor without license.

The grand jury to-day reported "no true bill" in the case of State vs. Louis B. Habicht for the illegal sale of liquor. Duncan was a witness before the body and it was asked of him: "Has Louis B. Habicht applied to you for a license to sell liquor?"

He replied "I refuse to answer."

The case was reported to Judge Shaw and Duncan was summoned to the bar. The judge asked: "Do you still refuse to answer that question?"

"I do," replied Mr. Duncan.

"Then," replied the judge, "I must give you into the custody of the sheriff until I make further investigation of this matter or until you consent to answer questions put to you in regular legal form.'

That it is negligence for a bank receiving checks or other paper for collection to transmit it to a bank on which it is drawn is a ruling of the Supreme Court in an opinion delivered this evening in the case of Bank vs. Floyd, from Edgecombe. The court holds further that when paper is given to a bank for collection, the bank's responsibility ceases on its selection of a proper sub-agent, such selection, if made with care and prudence, being a part of the contract between the collecting bank and the depositor; also, that the stipulation that items outside of the town of the collecting bank are received at owner risk until receipt of actual full payment will not operate to relieve the bank from responsibility if it fails in the exercise of the proper care in placing the paper for collection.

In the case at bar W. J. Floyd had deposited a check of $1,059 in the Bank of Rocky Mount, drawn on the Merchants' and Farmers' Bank of Dunn and it was sent to the Murchison Bank, of Wilmington, for collection. This bank sent it direct to the Merchants and Farmers Bank at Dunn which failed without making payment to the Murchison bank which, by the ruling of the court, is held liable for the amount.

The court to-day delivered opinions in eleven cases notable among them being: Jones vs. Railroad, from Duplin, affirmed; Peacock vs. Barnes, from Wilson, new trial; Bennett vs. Best, from Duplin, new trial.

THE W. L. I. BAZAAR

Enthusiastic Meeting of Committees From Company Last Night—Ladies to Assemble This Afternoon—Arrangements Progressing.

Evidences begin to multiply that the bazaar to be given next week by the Wilmington Light Infantry on the grounds of its armory on Market street will eclipse anything of its kind heretofore undertaken in Wilmington. Last night there was a most enthusiastic and a very largely attended meeting of all the committees from the company at which the general situation was discussed and very gratifying reports were received from every department of the arrangements.

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock all the ladies interested in the bazaar are requested to meet at the armory for important business in connection with the arrangements. In this connection, it is requested that all who can furnish cake, ice cream, etc., for the event will please notify any member of the company or committees as it is very necessary for those in charge of these delicacies to know exactly what they may expect.

Carnival goods in plenty have been ordered and it is proposed to have "something doing" all the time on each night of the fair. Confetti, dusters, fancy canes and the like have been ordered and will be here in time for the opening. It is hoped to close a contract for a merry-go-round of refined type for the fair. It will be given a prominent place on the midway.

A Handsome Building.

Since the exterior walls have been stuccoed and the scaffolding has been removed, it is the remark of the town that the old jail building at northeast corner of Second and Princess streets, now owned by Mr. Jno. All three of the stores have been rented and will be occupied as soon as possible. Misses Donnelly & King will occupy the middle store as a millinery establishment.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

Another Entire Day Taken Up in the Hearing of Horne Damage Suit.

TO FACILITATE THE TRIAL

Judge Jones is Chafing Under The Delay and Wants to Hurry Matters Along—Two Other Cases Taken Up and Disposed Of.

Superior Court was engaged again all day yesterday in the trial of the Horne damage suit against the Consolidated Company in which the plaintiff asks for $40,000 for injuries received while in the employ of the company last February two years ago. At the conclusion of the day's hearing Judge Jones held a conference with the attorneys with a view of agreeing upon the facts sought to be proved to the end that that the hearing may be facilitated, at least for the remainder of the trial. It was easily to be seen that the Judge was chafing under the long drawn out manner of questioning the witnesses during the two days that the trial has been going on and the effort yesterday afternoon was to get the attorneys to agree upon what they want to bring out and confine the examination of the witnesses to those points exclusively. What effect, if any, the conference will have in facilitating the trial remains to be seen. It took nearly four days to dispose of the case at the former trial and it is hardly expected that the issues will reach the jury before late this afternoon.

When court convened yesterday morning the sheriff returned the talesmen summoned for the day as follows: Jas. B. Elkins, Jno. S. Armstrong, R. V. Leonard, H. O. Craig, Jno. D. Jones, W. R. Brown, A. F. Davis, F. R. King, D. J. Fergus, Jacob Weil and L. B. Rogers It was easily to be seen that the talesmen would not be needed for the day and they were all excused

The Horne trial was resumed with Mr. C. E. Horton on the stand for the plaintiff. His re-direct and cross-examination required nearly two hours of the morning session and he was followed by other witnesses in the same behalf, among the number being Messrs. Herbert Hankins and Murray Croom, the latter being a lineman of experience in electricity.

The plaintiff rested about noon and the defendant company began with its testimony. Mr. Raymond Hunt, expert electrician for the company and designer of the model submitted in court, was the first witness. He explained the srtinging of the wires, the cause of the accident as he conceived it, etc. Dr. Akerman, surgeon in charge of the hospital at the time Horne had his hand amputated, testified as to the injuries of the patient and to certain statements made by Horne while he was at the hospital. Mr. D. C. Marshall, electrician of the Atlantic Coast Line, testified to electrical conditions on the wires of his company, which were alleged to have been affected by the accident to the plaintiff. Messrs. J. C. Womack and George T. Williamson, electricians for the Consolidated Company, were the last witnesses during the day, testifying as to the rules of the company, the effect of electricity under certain conditions and the like.

At a few minutes to 6 o'clock court took a recess until 9:30 o'clock this morning. The jury was asked to be on hand promptly at that hour in order that there might be no delay.

The only other cases taken up yesterday were those of the Third National Bank, of Atlanta, against the Darlington Trust Company, in which judgment was given for the plaintiff, and George D. Irving and others against Pembroke Jones and others, in which there was an order for a survey and a continuance for the plaintiffs. The latter case is the one in which Mrs. Irving and others are suing for the recovery of practically all the land on which Summer Rest, on Wrightsville Sound, is situated, the plaintiffs laying claim to the same under an alleged old grant which was not taken into account by subsequent purchasers of the lands.

The McKanna Treatment.

The class of 43 persons who are taking the McKanna Three-Day Liquor Cure upon the advice of their pastors is now in the lecture room of the First Baptist church during the day and at their homes at night. The class was visited by a number of the pastors yesterday and satisfaction was expressed at the way affairs were going. In addition to the class of 43 begun Monday night seven or eight begun last night again.

OFFICE SEEKING.

It is generally conceded that office-seeking is no crime if it is done decently and in order. There are some big men who have succeeded at it, and just to prove it the Washington Post says:

"In an editorial entitled 'Two New York Men,' the Chicago Tribune discusses the qualifications of candidates Hughes and Hearst for the gubnernatorial office and their respective prospects of winning. It is not the purpose of this article to follow that discussion in detail or to guess at the result of the strenuous campaign that will shake up the Empire State and attract attention from every quarter during the next five weeks. But the Tribune suggests one point on which we are iresistibly tempted to submit a few comments. It relates to that great and venerable industry called office-seeking, as to which our Chicago contemporary says: 'In Mr. Hughes' case the office seeks the man. In Mr. Hearst's case the man seeks the office and has long sought for various offices.'

"When did the seeking of an office or any other honor become an offense? When did it become a special credit to a citizen to keep out of the list of office seekers? Have not many men who have filled high positions in the national service and under State governments gained those offices by diligent, persistent seeking? Has the State of Illinois ever had a United States Senator who did not seek election? Is it not a fact that Abraham Lincoln was, in a dignified way, a seeker for the Presidency? It has passed into history that in the great joint campaign of Lincoln and Douglas, Lincoln said to a friend who told him that if he expressed a certain opinion he would be defeated for the Senate: 'That may be; but it will make me President.' Did not Lincoln go into the State of New York in the Winter of 1859-'60, into the bailiwick of his most formidable rival, William H. Seward, and deliver the address that turned the scale in his favor? Has the Tribune forgotten that the present incumbent of the Chief Magistracy, and the most popular of all our Presidents, has been an honest, open and ardent officeseeker for many years? His campaign for Governor of New York in 1898 and his quest for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1904, were in strict accord with his ideas, of political and personal propriety. The vindication of his views and practices in this regard is overwhelming proof that the people like to see a man who wants office go after it and not wait in seclusion for the office to come to him. Vice President Fairbanks is following President Roosevelt's example. If he should fail to reach the goal, his failure will not be occassioned by his assiduity in seeking it."

It is a worthy ambition to be President of the United States but at the same time there is no use for a man to make his ambition scandalous like some people have. Some men's seeking becomes flagrant but at the same time they have gotten there with all four feet.

A lot of men, principally Republicans, are "seeking" without making any bones about it. About the only man who is laying low is Secretary Taft who is not letting on much as a seeker but is doing things that will make the Presidential nomination keep its eye on him. As for Shaw, he is seeking and chewing the rag all over the country just as if he thought anybody was going to take him seriously. Then there is "Uncle Joe" who is mighty sly about it and would take it if he thought the other fellows would go into the national convention fighting each other so hard that the convention will have to compromise on a man that thinks he is not too old to be President. While Secretary Root went to South America the others got the lead on him but he thinks he is a square piece of timber of Presidential size and is liable to do something in two years that will let the boys know that he is in close touch with Roosevelt and knows exactly the size of his shoes. The fact is there are a whole lot of Republicans who think the Roosevelt toga is just their size.

Now as for Democratic seekers, they are in the woods. Some are sawing wood, hoping that one or two who have the lead are cutting the ground from under themselves and will have the job completed in about two years. All are hoping, also, that landslides in the opposite direction won't be fashionable in 1908.

PRESIDENT HAYES' SON.

Mr. R. P. Hayes, son of the late President Rutheford B. Hayes, is a resident of North Carolina, having made his home for some years at West Asheville, a subsurb of Asheville. He is well known and highly esteemed in Buncombe county, where he is engaged in Agriculture.

On Monday last Mr. Hayes was elected president of the Buncombe County Farmers' Association, which was organized by a large meeting of the farmers of that fine old mountain county. The new association began with 50 members, and President Hayes proposes to make it one of the most useful of the farmers' organizations in North Carolina. The farmers realize the necessity of organization, and are organizing live associations in almost every county.

The Buncombe association will hold another meeting November 17th to adopt a constitution and by-laws, and to take definite action concerning the holding of an annual fair at Asheville. The association will start off at its November meeting by awarding a cash prize to the Buncombe county farmer who has raised the biggest crop of corn on ten acres of land. If it does not organize to hold a fair, it proposes to make it interesting for the farmers in offering cash prizes for the biggest crops of various kinds.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—So Bryan has indorsed Hearst. The further you go, the worse it gets. —Baltimore Sun.

—Will the "parlor socialists" have a parlor car on the Hearst whirlwind train—Baltimore Sun.

—Young Teddy Roosevelt shows the family instinct for always being around when trouble occurs.—Baltimore Sun.

—There appears to be a dispositoin to send Mr. Taft where there is trouble and Mr. Shaw where there is no danger of any.—Washington Post.

—Naturally, Mayor McClellan finds himself unable to vote for a man who has so little sporting blood in him that he kicked because he was counted out.—Washington Post.

—Let us be frank. Complaints of the rowdy behavior of enlisted men in the vicinity of military posts are not uncommon. The respect always due to the American uniform is primarily due from those who wear it."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

—The Cuban disturbance bobbed up just in time to be accorded a few lines in the forthcoming Presidential message, and will tend to relieve the monotony of a document that would otherwise have nothing to treat of but good crops and simplified spelling.—Washington Post.

—It is absolutely essential for Democratic success in 1908 that there be harmony. The head of the ticket must wag the tail or be waggered by it. There must be no warring of discordant elements. There must be no gnashing of teeth. Therefore, why not nominate the following ticket? For President—William Randolph Hearst, of San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Boston and Chicago. For Vice-President—Arthur Brisbane, of Utopia. —Baltimore Sun.

—Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, was quoted, a few days ago, since intervention was determined upon, as saying that the United States will never get out of Cuba. A Raleigh special of yesterday quotes Senator Simmons to practicaly the same effect and as saying, "It is the one piece of ground the United States needs." These expressions are pointers. It is a reasonable prophecy as to Cuba that the next step will be annexation.—Charlotte Observer.

—After the Cubans have paid the cost of intervention and the damages for property destroyed, which they undoubtedly will have to do, perhaps they will hereafter be more careful and settle their election disputes amongst themselves and quietly and peaceably. A little extra taxation to pay for the result of political party quarrels will be a very severe object lesson.—Columbia Record.

WAS PREPARED TO LIVE LIFE OVER

The Keeley Institue, Grensboro, N. C.:

After much persuasion by friends and stubborn resistance on my part, and after a protracted drunk of two months, I was carried, not being able to go by myself, to the Institute at Greensboro, N. C. I did not know when I got there, but to my happy surprise in five days I refused whiskey—the first I had ever refused in my life. Why? Because I did not want it. I remained there for four weeks, and was pronounced cured; bidding my many friends and the officials of the institute bood-bye I came home to friends and loved ones a cured man—a new man. I have never drunk a drop since I went out in the world to live life over. I owned a small farm, just over in South Carolina from Gibson, N. C. I secured a small cotton job after a few months, when my friends saw I was a cured man and intended to make a man of myself. After about two years I went with Messrs. Sprunt & Son, Cotton Exporters, of Wilmington, N. C., as their buyer in our town; remained with these gentlemen for several years. I am now with Messrs. Charles E. Johnson & Company, of Raleigh, N. C., and have been for three years, and I know I am the happiest man living. Why? Because I am a sober man, and when I go away my dear wife, one daughter, and five bright eyed boys know papa will come home sober, and I owe it all to the Keeley Treatment. This is the first time in the twelve years of my sober life I have written a word for the Keeley Institute. When I took the Treatment I was thirty-three years old and weighed about 160 pounds. I am now forty-five years old and weigh 225 pounds. My health is perfect and has been ever since I took the treatment. W. H. GIBSON.

Gibson, N. C., August 24, 1904.

Darling and Dexterous.

For a feat of dexterity and nerve it would be difficult to surpass that of the Bosjesman of South Africa, who walks quietly up to a puff adder and deliberately sets his bare foot on its neck. In its struggles to escape and attempts to bite its assailant the poison gland secretes a large amount of the venom. This is just what the Bosjesman wants. Killing the snake, he eats the body and uses the poison for his arrows.

Lowell's Motto.

In a eulogy which appeared in the Century Magazine just after Lowell's death are these words: "This is Lowell's legacy as a patriot, not the sentiment, 'My country, right or wrong,' but 'My country—it shall never be wrong if I can help it.'"

No Disguise.

Husband (admiringly)—There's no use trying to disguise the fact that you are smarter than I am, my dear. Wife (complacently)—The fact, my love, has never been in disguise among those who know us.

A Young Mother at 70.

"My mother has suddenly been made young at 70. Twenty years of intense suffering from dyspepsia had entirely disabled her, until six mouths ago, when she began taking Electric Bitters, which have completely cured her and restored the strength and activity she had in the prime of life," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Me. Greatest restorative medicine on the globe. Sets Stomach, Liver and Kidneys right, purifies the blood, and cures Malaria, Biliousness and Weaknesses. Wonderful Nerve Tonic. Price 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Their Absence Explained.

During an acrimonious debate in the house shortly before the civil war Mr. Potter of Wisconsin made some very sharp strictures on Mr. Pryor of Virginia. The result was a challenge from Pryor to fight a duel, which Potter promptly accepted, naming as terms bowie knives at five paces, terms which he well knew Pryor would not dare to accept, as he was a small man, while Potter was a large, powerful man and familiar with the use of the bowie knife. Pryor declined on the ground that the proposed terms were beneath the dignity of a gentleman to accept, and so the matter ended. But on the day following the challenge, while the result was still unknown, both Potter and Pryor were absent during roll call, and when Potter's name was called a Quaker member rose and in mild voice said, "Mr. Speaker, I am informed that the gentleman from Wisconsin had a Prior engagement." And when Pryor's name was called a moment later he rose again, saying, "Mr. Speaker, I hear that the gentleman from Virginia has gone to be as clay in the hands of the Potter."

Double Thinking.

Professor Jastrow, writing in the Popular Science Monthly of the causes of certain lapses of speech, recalls the singular power that Sir Walter Scott, among others, possessed of conducting two trains of thought at the same time. When highly developed this power enables its possessor subconsciously to find words expressing a thought already formed while at the same time shaping the next thought period in conscious preparation. An instance is given by Scott's amanuensis, who relates that while dictating the novelist would sometimes search through a book, finding and reading a passage, and thus keeping two trains of thoughts going simultaneously. The amanuensis discovered the fact that Scott was doing double work in his brain through the occasional occurrence in the dictation of a word which did not fit in the sentence, but four or five lines farther on the place where the word belonged would turn up.

Candlelight.

Hail, candlelight, without disparagement to the sun or moon, the kindliest luminary of the three, if we may not style thee radiant deputy, mild viceroy of the moon! We love to read, talk, sit silent, eat, drink, sleep by candlelight. They are everybody's sun and moon. This is our peculiar and household planet. By the midnight taper the writer digests his meditations. By the same light we must approach to their perusal if we would catch the flame, the odor. Night and silence call out the starry fancies. Milton's "Morning Hymn In Paradise," we would hold a good wager, was penned at midnight, and Taylor's rich description of a sunrise smells decidedly of the taper. Even now a loftier speculation than we have attempted courts our endeavors. We would indite something about the solar system. "Betty, bring the candles."—Charles Lamb.

A Useless Model.

An English manufacturer of pottery is the subject of a joke told in the Liverpool Post. While on a continental tour he purchased a Sevres vase for some hundreds of pounds and brought it home most carefully. Thinking that the foreman of his works might gather a hint from the design he called that gentleman in and showed him the treasure. "How do you like it?" he asked. The foreman took the vase in his hand, turned it over and returned it, with the brief reply, "I don't think I can learn much from it." "Why not?" asked the manufacturer. "I don't like telling you, sir." "Come. Out with it." "Well, I designed that vase myself. It is a foreign imitation of our own work and is worth £5 at the outside."

Will Row Till Judgment Day.

There is a shivery, shaky legend among the people who live along the Hudson river which is to the effect that that stream is the everlasting boating waters of a specter who is personified as Ramhout Van Dam. Away back in colonial times Ramhout and his friends were drinking until late at night. Finally this man Ramhout started for home, some distance up the river, in his boat, swearing that he would row the distance if it took "a month of Sundays." Ramhout never reached home, and the superstitious people say that he has been condemned to row till judgment day.

His Daughter.

A gentleman who was once stopped by an old man begging replied, "Don't you know, my man, that fortune knocks once at every man's door?"

"Yes," said the old man, "he knocked at my door once, but I was out, and ever since then he has sent his daughter."

"His daughter?" replied the gentleman. "What do you mean?"

"Why, Miss Fortune."

The Unusual Way.

"Do the Blanks manage to keep up appearances since they lost the greater part of their fortune?"

"No. They don't bother about appearances. They just use what little money they have to make themselves comfortable."—Detroit Free Press.

A Change.

Old Gentleman (pointing to lanky youth at his side in the tram car)—How much for this boy—half fare, I suppose? Conductor—Well, no. He looks as if he were kept on half fare at home, and needs a change. Full fare, please.—London Answers.

His Mistake.

Rupert—Why did you ask her to marry you? Harold—Well, I thought she was sensible, but hanged if she didn't accept me!

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—United States District Court convened at Greensboro Monday morning, with Judge Boyd presiding. Judge Boyd, in his charge, referred to lynchings and the apparent growing spirit of mob law, but said it would be stopped.

—Ernest Scott escaped from the State farm in Halifax county Saturday. He is a bright mulatto about 18 years old and was sentenced from Cabarrus last March for ten years for assault with intent to commit rape. A reward of $25 and all necessary expenses is offered for his recapture.

—A few night ago Mr. Easel, a section master who lives near Rocky Mount, heard his 12-year-old daughter crying. Upon investigation he found her lying on the ground near the doorstep. The house had been entered by some fiend who was endeavoring to take the child away. He dropped her, however, and in the fall her shoulder was hurt. She began crying, aakening her father, who came to the rescue. Meanwhile, the fiend escaped.

—Mocksville special, Oct. 1.—There was a large crowd in town to hear Governor Glenn's address. For two hours he held the undivided attention of his large and representative audience. His speech was received with great enthusiasm and everybody was delighted with his eloquence. He delivered an address at the Mehtodist church last night, which was excellent in every respect. He took his subject from the 18th chapter of Second Samuel, and spoke for 50 minutes.

—Saturday night about 8 o'clock Walter Sprull, a negro, was found in the house of Mr. J. A. Rideout, who lives near Whitaker's, in Edgecombe county. Mrs. Rideout was alone at the time. The negro concealed himself in some blankets. He made an attempt to attack Mrs. Rideout but she screamed and her husband, who had been away, appeared upon the scene, whereupon the brute escaped. Sunday the officers and about 50 citizens of the community made dilligent efforts to capture the negro, but were unsuccessful, as none of the negroes would give nay information as to the whereabouts of Sprull. They seemed determined to shield him form the officers. Spruill is 22 years old, medium height, has a moustache, weighs 150 pounds and is of a ginger cake color.

—Asheville special, Oct. 1:—Judge Prichard in the United States Circuit Court, is today hearing argument in a novel cause. The question involved is whether the Allen Brothers Tobacco Company, of Richmond, Va., has the legal right to use a tag on plug tobacco similar in size and color, but different as to wording to that used by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, of Winston-Salem. The question is not one of infringement of patent rights or trade mark, but rather an alleged infringement on size and color of tags now used by the Reynolds Company. The cause is before Judge Pritchard on motion of the plaintiff that a restraining order issue forbidding the defendant company from further imitating by color and size and shape of tag and slant of lettering thereon the tags by the Reynolds Company on its "Schnapps" tobacco.

—Asheville special, Oct. 1.—It is announced that trains have not been operated through from Asheville to Murphy for more than two days and that no trains will go through today. It is stated, however, that all the trouble will be removed by tonight and that trains will probably be going through by to-morrow. Several trestles have been swept away out the Murphy road. Two trestles betwen Willets and Bryson City were put out of commission and men were sent there to make repairs. On the heels of the trouble near Bryson City, came the news that two other trestles had gone at points between Bryson City and Murphy and that the operation of trains was materially interferred with. It was expected that the trestle a Dark Ridge would be washed away, but it is asid that the structure still stands and that it can be saved.

—Charlotte Observer, Oct. 2: Messrs. Thomas Gresham, of North Carolina, and John M. Jamison, of Hamlet, of the well-known hotel firm of Gresham & Jomison, have dissolved copartnership after 12 years of pleasant relations and mest successful business. In the division of the property Mr. Gresham gets the hotel at Norlina and the interest of Mr. Jamison in the Huffine House, at Greensboro, while Mr. Jamison gets the hotel at Hamlet. Messrs. Gresham and Jamison met here yesterday and completed their dissolution. Every traveling man who visits North Carolina knows the Ghesham and Jamison hotels. The houses at Hamlet, Norlina and Greensboro have become famous. By giving the traveling public the best that was to be had for the money these young men, who started out with nothing except their good names, have prospered and grown fat on the good things of the land. They have served well their patrons, and in turn they have fattened their purses. It is generally believed that the Gresham & Jamison interests are worth close to $150,000.

—Newbern Special, Oct. 1: A negro lad of 12 years, who lives with his parents at Fort Barnwell, was accidently killed late Saturday night while carelessly playing with a shotgun. He was sitting on a fence and looking into the muzzle when it was discharged and his head was litterally blown to pieces.

—The Seaboard Air Line Railway, which has expended over $25,000 this year in so enlarging its yards in Raleigh that they will contain eight hundred cars, now decides to carry out a plan made years ago and build a great freight warehouse where the com press now stands one block north of the capital building. The improvements will cost some $40,000.

—Newbern Special. Oct. 1: There is a siege of sickness in Newbern and a number of cases of diphtheria. The latter malady, however, does not alarm the people nor the physicians. patients are said to have been thor- There has been but one death; and all oughly treated with anti-toxin. The most of the sickness is of a malarial order and chills and fever seem to claim at least one victim in each family. Physicians and druggists say they have not seen such a sickly time for many years. Much illness has made a serious difference in the stores and offices on account of clerical help. In some instances three of four clerks were laid up at one time.

—Asheville Special, Oct. 1: A novel suit was docketed in Superior Court Saturday afternoon. It is entitled Mrs. R. M. Thomason and husband, R. M. Thomason, against the Hackney & Moale Company, book dealers and stationers of this city. Gilmer Welch of Asheville, represents the plaintiffs, and while the complaint has not yet been filed, it is stated that $800 damages will be demanded. The suit is over a kodak film. It will be alleged by the plaintiffs that a film was left with the Hackney & Moale Company for development; that the films contained photographs taken during the last illness of their child or after its death; that the defendant company accepted the film and thereafter lost it and that the plaintiffs now have no late likeness of their deceased child. It is contended that the films cannot be replaced and the plaintiffs allege that they have been damaged $800.

—Lumberton Special, Oct. 1: Whatever had been the appearance of Lumberton from a business standpoint during the summer months, and, at times, like all other towns, it seemed very dull, it took on new life Satday. The farmers of the county were here with their cototon, tobacco and other in-season marketable commodities. All the forenoon and early afternoon they were going from store to store. After the farmers had gone home of the employes of the various manufacturing enterprises of the town were noticeable more numerous on the streets and in the stores than usual, even of a Saturday afternoon.

—Asheville Special, Oct. 1: A gentleman here yesterday from Hendersonville gave out some interesting facts relative to a movement now on foot to build a great artificial lake in the Mud creek bottoms near that place. It was stated that a stock comvany was being formed for the purpose of raising money necessary for the building of the dam that, it is claimed, will create the largest surface of water in western North Carolina. Major W. E. Strong, an experienced engineer, is now making the survey for the location of the dam and also to ascertain how much land will be covered by water if the proposed object is carried out. The water will extend probably eight or ten miles up Bat Fork and two and one-half miles up Devil's Fork and will be one and one-half miles wide in places. Major Strong thinks that there will be 20 miles of lake-shore while others say that there will be 50 miles of shore. The land that will be covered by this proposed artificial lake is in the main swamp land and can be secured at little cost.

—High Point special, Oct. 1:—Jealousy, occasioned by the attention of the negro fireman of the wrecked train to his wife, is given as the motive for placing an iron on the track which wrecked the Asheboro train here Saturday night. William McIver, colored, 25 years of age, had been wanted here for several days for trying to kill his wife with a deadly weapon. Early Sunday morning, after the wreck, he was arrested and at the trial this morning was charged also with he was bound over in the sum of $300 and in the case against him for wrecking the train committed to jail without bond. In the hearing today McIver became sullen and the irate brute shown in his face and every tone of his voice, as he asked questions and answered queries viciously and threateningly. When on the stand in the assault case McIver swore that, if he had a knife or a pistol, he would immediately take his own life. Man and wife glared at each other and there was a brute spirit and desire for personal resentment all the time the man and woman faced each other. Just after the crowd had passed from the court room and while the details of the commitment were being arranged by the magistrate there was a muttered curse and McIver sprang towards his wife, who had taken refuge behind the officers and had advanced about two steps, when the officers sprang upon him.

—Lumberton Special, Oct. 1: The results of Rev. C. H. Durham's injuries a few days ago are considered more serious than thought at first. He is the beloved pastor of the Baptist church here. Wednesday he was on his way to Bear Swamp to assist in a protracted meeting and was in a buggy with Mr. Blalock trying to hold him. Thinking the horse was gaining advantage of Mr. Blalock, Mr. Durham seized the lines. The holding-back straps broke and the buggy ran against the horse, frightening him worse. Mr. Durham attempted to lower the top so as to get out, if necessary. While doing this he was thrown backwards out of the buggy, landing on his head against the hard road. He was unconscious for some time. It was not thought at the time that he was seriously hurt, but after several days of much suffering his condiion does not show much improvement.

—Greensboro special, Oct. 1.—Mayor Murphy this morning forwarded to Chief of Police Neely the following letter, stating the provision of the new city ordinance regulating the sale of certain articles on Sunday: "Beginning Sunday, October 7th, 1906, you will enforce the following rules regulating Sunday selling: Close all resturants and cafes, except between the hours of 7 and 9 A. M. and 2 P. M. and 6 and 8 P. M., at which times they will serve meals only. Close all soda fountains and soft drink establishments. Close all news and cigar stores or stands between the hours of 10 A. M. and 3 P. M. and 7 and 9 P. M. Allow no newsboys to sell newspapers on Sunday. Allow no place of business to open on Sunday except exclusive hotels, restaurants, news and cigar stands, as above restricted, and drug stores for the sale of medicines only and cigars as above restricted. ACADEMY OFFERINGS.

"Sergeant Kitty" and "The Little Duchess" This Week.

The manager of the Academy has secured for to-night the comic opera, "Sergeant Kitty" with Helen Byron in the title role. "Sergeant Kitty" had a run of two hundred nights at the Casino and Daly's Theatre in New York. It took the house records at Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington, and has been declared the best comic opera seen in years. The book is by R. H. Burnside, the music by A. Baldwin Sloane and the piece has been carefully staged by the author. It has a laughable plot, the situations are amusing and natural, and the company making the presentation this season is one of merit.. The chorus has been selected with the greatest care, the girls are not alone pleasing to the eye, but graceful and well trained singers. The costuming and scenic effects are all that can be desired. Altogether "Sergeant Kitty" may be considered one of the best attractions that is likely to visit Wilmington this season. Seats are now on sale.

Instead of one or two comedians usually found in the ordinary musical show, "The Little Duchess," which comes to the Academy Friday night has six decided comedy roles. The star, Countess Olga von Hatzfedt, the charming comedienne, is the chief of the laugh producers, and she is ably assisted in the fun-making by Robert Lott, Irving Brooks, Harry Carter, F. Moore and Madeline Cook. The other important parts are played by Eugene O'Brien, K'ttie Duebel, Violet von Nickols, and Ernest Fisher, reinforced by a big beauty chorus. Seats on sale to-morrow.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The local cotton market advanced to 9 7-8 cents at the local port yesterday. The receipts continue quite heavy, most of the staple coming via the W., C. & A. Railroad.

—The Public Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen calls for bids for certain repairs to the city market house property. See advertisement elsewhere in to-day's paper.

—The Stieff Music House has removed from Bunting building, on Princess street, to the old I. O. O. F. building, on Third street, opposite the City Hall, where patrons will please call.

—Louis McMillan, a well known colored man employed for years by the ice companies in the city but last with the Seaboard Air Line at the coal schute, died Monday night where he lived at No. 11 Dock street.

—A Sunday School convention will be held at Burgaw next week with preliminary services Sunday by Dr. Phillips. The convention will be held on Monday and Tuesday of the following week.

—The tug Aleander Jones went for a trial trip around the harbor and down the river yesterday. The owners were aboard and watched with satisfaction the many improvements recently made on the steamer.

—The police court yesterday was not interesting. Julia Moore, a colored woman of unsavory reputation, was charged with disorderly conduct and was let off upon condition that she leave the city "for keeps." She promised to do so. George Simmons, a white man, charged with being asleep in a box car, was on private property and was let off with the costs.

WOODEN CHECKS.

Tallies Were Used In England Until the Year 1834.

Wooden checks are the sort of thing one would expect to find used in China or Tibet, but, as a matter of fact, they were used in England from the earliest times down to as late as 1834.

Tallies as they were called were made out of a curved piece of hazel, notches being cut along the edges to stand for a certain sum of money. The tally was then sawed half through below the lowest notch and the notched part split into two pieces, on both of which the notches appeared.

These pieces served as check and counterfoil, the latter being always the larger piece with the unnotched end as a kind of handle. The smaller piece was then taken by the payee, the larger sent to the person on whom the check was drawn, generally a collector of customs or other revenues, public or private. He would honor the check on finding that the two pieces fitted and had the amount credited to him by the drawer on returning them together to him. Thus were the great danger and expense of transporting large sums of coin avoided.

Forgery of a tally was obviously impossible unless a new counterfoil could be substituted, and if stolen in the ordinary way it would be of little use to the thief, for, unlike our checks, there was nothing to show on whom it was drawn.

There are still a good many tallies in existence, but the majority were burned in the great fire which destroyed the old houses of parliament. The remainder are chiefly to be found in the public record office and no doubt also in the muniment rooms of great landowners.

THE DIVINE NAME.

Ineffable Word That Is Never Used by Many Israelites.

An eminent rabbi has given his view of the ancient Jewish rendering of the name of the Deity. He says that the term "Jehovah," the ineffable tetragrammaton, is never pronounced by many Israelites. They use the word "Adonoi," which signifies "the Lord." The translators of the Bible followed this custom, rendering the word "Jehovah" as "Lord." In ancient times the Pharisees replaced the tetragrammaton by Shem. They used "Shemo," which is also Biblical, as the sacred name, and this name is yet retained to some extent among the Jews. But it would appear from passages in the Psalms that Adonoi, or Lord, for Jehovah was more ancient even than the times of the Pharisees. It thus occurs eight times in Psalm lxxxiv. It also appears in the book of Exodus, where "Jehovah" had been used in the original Hebrew. This substitution would seem to be older than any other, and it is yet common among all Jews.

The rabbi says he has found that the ancient translations testify in favor of "Adonoi."

Looking at the English translation of the Old Testament, it will be found that the name Jehovah appears in the books of Genesis, Exodus, Judges, the Psalms and Isaiah. It is not in the New Testament.

The Advice of Experience.

It has sometimes been remarked by the student of child life that the only child learns to read sooner than the child belonging to a large family. There may or may not be psychological reasons for this, but the story of the small boy of five who was struggling with his alphabet blocks for the first time may be enlightening to those who wish for reasons. The small boy was really rather interested than otherwise in the large A that fulfilled its usual function of standing for an apple tree, but he had a brother who was nearly eight. "You leave 'em alone," advised the brother; "if you once begin to read you can never leave off."—London Chronicle.

Acting Naturally.

It often requires courage to be natural—a higher form of courage than that which marches behind the safe end of a gun. Moral courage which is not dependent on appearance or intimidated by custom is a finer quality than the daring of the speculator or the unflinching nerve of the soldier exposed to the fire of an enemy. It takes the best stamp of bravery to be true to oneself, and he who is loyal to the inner voice, who keeps faith with himself and maintains self respect, wins a victory in the battle of life. To live undaunted by the demands of unworthy conventionalism is not to live in vain.

Made It All Clear.

Berzelius, the Swedish chemist, made most of his laboratory experiments in his kitchen with his cook Anna as his only assistant. "What is your master?" asked one of his neighbors. "Oh, he is a chemist." "What's that? What does he do?" "Well, I will tell you. He has something in a big bottle, then he pours it into a smaller one and then again into quite a tiny bottle." "Well, and what then happens to it?" "Oh, then I throw it away."

The Complementary Virtue.

"What do you consider most essential in being quick at repartee?"

"A person who constantly strives to be quick at repartee," answered Miss Cayenne, "should be quite sure he has friends who are slow to anger."—Washington Star.

SAVED YOUNG ROOSEVELT.

Friend of President's Son Submits as Scapegoat.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—Further investigation by the Boston police and action today by the grand jury in connection with an assault of the policeman on the Boston Common last Thurs day evening, in which Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was involved, resulted in the arrest in Cambridge tonight of Shaun Kelley, of Fitchburg, a companion of young Roosevelt and president of the Sophomore class at Harvard. Kelley was arested on a warrant issued by the municipal court of this charging an unknown person with an assault upon a police officer. He will appear in court tomorrow for a hearing.

Summons was issued and served on young Roosevelt and Meridith Blagden, another Harvard student, to appear as witnesses in o Sufolk county grand jury investigation of the case next Thursday. Young Kelley realizing that his two friends would be compelled to tell all they knew of the affair to the grand jury, approached the Boston officers and accepted the arrest on the warrant granted yesterday for an unknown person.

Poice Commissioner O'Mara issued a statement tonight to the effect that the department was not satisfied with the refusal of Judge Sullivan to issue a warrant for young Roosevelt's arrest and therefore a warrant for the arrest of an unknown person was obtained.

Today the grand jury came into the case, and after District Attorney Moran had talked with several of the police officers, they were taken before the grand jury and as a result the summonses were issued for Roosevelt and Blagden as witnesses.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 2.—Charles S. Peacock, of Smithfield, N. C., who has been held in the Norfolk jail under the name of Charles Smyth, in default of payment of a ne of $1 and cost, imposed for alleged drunkenness September 24, was today carried back to Smithfield in company with a deputy sheriff and his own brother to answer an indictment form urder and robbery at that place some months ago. Peacock was once acquitted at a preliminary hearing before a magistrate. He left Smithfield and was then indicted by the grand jury. His family feeling sure of their ability to establish Peacock's innocence had been searching for him and was finally located here and induced to return for trial.

CONSCIENTIOUS ROGUES.

The Big and Formidable Sinners Are Gray of Soul, Not Black.

No paradox is it, but a demonstrable fact, that in a highly articulate society the gravest harms are inflicted not by the worst men, but by those with virtues enough to boost them into some coign of vantage. The boss who sells out the town and delivers the poor over to filth, disease and the powers that prey owes his chance to his engaging good fellowship and big heartedness. Some of the most dazzling careers of fraud have behind them long and reassuring records of probity, which have served to bait the trap of villainy.

Not that these decoy virtues are counterfeit. They are, in fact, so genuine that often the stalwart sinner perseveres in the virtue that has lifted him into the high places he abuses. The legislator conscientiously returns the boodle when he finds he cannot "deliver the goods." The boss stands by his friends to his own hurt. The lobbying lawyer is faithful to his client. The corrupting corporation president is loyal to his stockholders. The bought-en editor never quite overcomes his craft instinct to print "all the news there is."

In a word, the big and formidable sinners are gray of soul, but not black, so that chastisement according to their character rather than according to their deeds lets them off far too easily.—E. A. Ross in Atlantic.

FIRE THE BEST FILTER.

Boiling Water the Surest Way to Get Pure Water.

"All this talk about the need of filters, about people dying for lack of filtered water, amuses me," said a chemist. "For filtered water isn't necessarily pure water. Boiled water is a hundred times better.

"A filter, you see, does not free water from things dissolved in it, but only from things floating in it. For instance, if you mix a quart of whisky in a gallon of water and then filter the mixture it will come out colorless, the floating color particles having been left behind, but this colorless fluid will be quite as capable of intoxicating you now as it was before, for none of its dissolved alcohol will have disappeared.

"So with water that is polluted with sewage. All the undissolved portions of the sewage are removed by filtration and the water is left clear, tasteless and colorless, but the dissolved sewage is still present and in it may lurk billions of typhoid germs.

"Let those who complain about the lack of filters just turn in and boil their water. A cent's worth of fire will purify a gallon of water better than a $10,000,000 plant could do it."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Curious Seasickness.

"Seasickness is a curious trouble," says a physician. "It is probably due to the disturbance caused by the motion of the ship to the little organs that govern the sense of equilibrium. In the inner ear are three little semicircular canals. In movement in any plane the fluid in these canals disturbs and telegraphs the sensation to the brain, which is then able to control the balance of the whole. By the motion of a ship this delicate apparatus of the canal system is, it is suggested, thrown out of gear and wildly telegraphs wrong messages to the brain. And that portion of the brain is intimately connected with the nerve that controls the happenings in the region whence the trouble arises. The whole system, in brief, is short circuited."

Artificial Halos or "Sun Dogs."

An experiment which illustrates in a very curious manner the actual philosophy of the formation of halos or "sundogs" is performed as follows: Take a solution of alum and spread a few drops of it over a pane of glass. It will readily crystallize in small, flat octohedrons, scarcely visible to the eye. When this pane of prepared glass is held between the observer and the sun or even a candle (with eyes very close to the smooth side of the glass) there will be seen three different but distinct and beautiful halos, each at a different distance from the luminous body.

Rio de Janeiro English.

A firm in Rio de Janeiro recently sent out the following advertisement about olive oil: "Our olives oils have garantized of fitts quality. Diligently fabricated and filitrated. The consumer will find with them the good taste and perfect preservation. For to escape to any counterfeit is necessary to requiere on any botles this contremarc deposed conformably to the law. The corks and the boxes hare all marked with the fire."

His Part.

In the English "Cap and Gown" is told the following story of Oxford life. It is called "Hauled by the Dean." The dean, who had rebuked Mr. Brown for having assisted at the ducking of a fellow student, asks the offender, "What part did you take in this disgraceful affair?" and Mr. Brown replies meekly, "The left leg, sir."

A Facetious Convict.

"This confinement," said the long faced prison visitor, "must distress you greatly." "Yes," replied the facetious convict, "I find the prison bars grating." "Ah, life to you is a failure." "Yes. It's nothing but a cell."

No Chance to Grow.

Mrs. Newwed—Dear me, these eggs are very small. Grocer—They are indeed, mum, and I'm sure I don't know why. Mrs. Newwed—Oh, I dare say it's because you take them out of the nest too soon.

If your spirits are low, do something; and, if you have been doing something, do something different.—E. E. Hale.

OLD GLORY.

Story of the Stars and Stripes on the American Flag.

The design for the American flag, with thirteen stripes of alternate red and white and thirteen white stars in a blue field, representing the thirteen states struggling for independence, was adopted by the Continental congress on June 14, 1777, a little less than a year after the declaration of independence. The first flag of this design was made as a specimen for the congress by Betsy Ross, a dressmaker, of Philadelphia. It is supposed that this flag was first unfurled by Paul Jones on the Ranger, a vessel of the navy to which he had been assigned on the day that the resolution adopting the design was passed. The thirteen stars of the flag of 1777 were arranged in a circle, though no form was prescribed officially. This flag remained unchanged until 1794, and then, on motion of Senator Bradley of Vermont, which, with Kentucky, had been admitted to the Union, it was resolved that from and after May 1, 1795, "the flag of the United States be fifteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be fifteen stars, white in a blue field." This was the flag used in the war of 1812. The act made no provision for future alterations in the flag, and none was made until 1818. Upon the suggestion of Captain Samuel C. Reid of the navy a bill was passed on April 4, 1818, reducing the number of stripes in the flag to the original thirteen and making the number of stars equal to the number of states. The new star for a new state is not added to the flag until the Fourth of July following the admission of the new state.—St. Louis Republic.

CROSSING SAHARA.

The Costliness of Caravans and the Mortality of Camels.

The merchants who fit out a garfa (caravan) must stand all losses; consequently great care is given to the selection of both the camels which carry the valuable merchandise and the men who accompany them. The tall and swift riding camel known as the mehari is seldom met with in northern Tripoli. The finest male draft camels, the jamal, costing from $50 to $60 apiece, with a carrying capacity of about three hundredweight, are used for transport. From consumption or the effects of the long strain scores often die by the way and many others at the end of the "voyage." The wages of the men for conducting a return cargo are sometimes as high as $5,000. Not only must the garfa sheiks have great courage and endurance, but must be trustworthy traders and shrewd diplomats of no small caliber. Many of the sultans and chiefs, particularly the Touaregs, through whose territories lie the garfa routes, exact not only homage, but tribute, from the garfa sheiks. To bring this tribute within a reasonable sum and secure a safe conduct requires extraordinary skill and tact. The opportunities for dishonesty afforded the garfa men are many, and occasionally men and goods are never heard from again.—Charles Wellington Furlong in Harper's Magazine.

NOT A TYPICAL SOUTHERN CITY

The New York Sun Holds That the South Should Not Be Held Responsible for Atlanta's Anti-Negro Riot.

(From the New York Sun.)

Has it ever occurred, we wonder, to those who are abusing the South because of the Atlanta riots that Atlanta is not really a typical Southern city? Apparently not Yet, looking back over the record of the past forty years we cannot find in any popular ebullition beyond the Potomac and the Ohio a single incident that resembles at any point the abominable violence which characterized the barbarous demonstration in Georgia's capital two weeks or so ago.

Heretofore throughout the South the mobs have contented themselves with punishing in their own way—always more or less deplorable—the individual offender. There have been few instances of race hatred or race antagonism. Seldom have the lynchers wreaked their vengeance on the negro as such. Inflamed by the commission of a heinous and unmentionable crime, they have usually addressed themselves to the capture and extinction of the criminal. They have seldom gone further, seldom visited violence upon the innocent or the unsuspected. It is a fact of record, indeed, that colored men have frequently co-operated with the whites in particularly diabolical cases and proved their disposition to aid in the defence of society against its enemies. In Ohio, Illinois, Kansas and other Northern States it has been the almost invariable custom to make a race issue of every crime committed by negroes. In such cases the savage enormities of the Atlanta mob were outlined and suggested. Negroes were attacked, murdered or maimed without question or discrimination. Negro settlements were wrecked and burned as matter of course. But no such insane and cruel barbarism has hitherto been practiced at the South. It was reserved to Atlanta to imitate the massacres of which Columbus, Springfield, etc., had furnished the example. And this brings us back to the question whether Atlanta is a typical Southern city.

Mr. John Temple Graves, who conducts in Atlanta a melodeon which he is pleaser to call a newspaper, has had a great deal to say about the incident. He is nothing if not vociferous. He speaks of his town as "the capital of the new South" and, of course, he does not stop at that; he never stops at anything when it comes to language. But if the colonel be right, and that would fill a graven image with uncontrollable emotion, there is no "South" left outside the city limits of Atlana. The horrors which occurred in that town two weeks ago could not by any possibility have occurred in by any other Southern community. In Richmond, Charleston, Savannah, Mobile, Birmingham, Montgomery, New Orleans to say nothing of hundreds of other Southern communities there is neither the sentiment nor the material for so detestable a tragedy. Even the darkest days of "the reconstruction period" the Southern whites never wreaked their indignation at large. And now we do not believe that the Atlanta horror can be justly ascribed to Southern sentiment in any truthful way.

Atlanta is commonly referred to at the South, even in Georgia, as "a Yankee town." It is noisy, bumptious, aggressive and somewhat ill mannered. We do not think that the South should be held accountable for Atlanta.

Like a Dog Watch.

Mamma had not noticed the clock striking during all of the afternoon and, thinking perhaps it had stopped, she asked little Rita to go into the hall and see if it was running. After a hasty survey of the long pendulum swinging back and forth, Rita ran back and announced: "Why, no, mamma, it isn't running. It's standing still and wagging its tail."—Harper's Weekly.

A Helpful Wife.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the after dinner orator, "unaccustomed as I am to public speaking, and having been suddenly called upon without the slightest notice, I am—er—exceedingly—er"—

"Why, John," said his wife from the other end of the table, "have you forgot the rest? You said it all right this morning."

Nature's Methods.

Nature is no spendthrift, but takes the shortest way to her ends. As the general says to his soldiers, "If you want a fort, build a fort," so nature makes every creature do its own work and get its living, be it planet, animal or tree.—Emerson.

Chance and Accident.

It is a mortifying truth, and ought to teach the wisest of us humility, that many of the most valuable discoveries have been the result of chance rather than of contemplation and of accident rather than of design.—Colton.

It was a son of Erin who asked the meeting to excuse him from serving on a committee because he expected to be unexpectedly called away.

HANDY REVOLVER ENEMY OF SOCIETY

It is Foe to the Enforcement of Law and Order—Manufacture and Sale Ought to Be Forbidden.

(Chattanooga Times.)

A paragraph in these columns recently calling attention to five revolver advertisements in one issue of a certain weekly publication engaged in the professed business of saving the people from the patent medicine habit, attracted the attention of a Masachusetts trade paper. Our idea was that the undue exploitation of the revolver was about as bad for the health of the country as the display of the quack doctor's advertisement or the miraculous work of the patent cure-alls. The trade paper referred to notes the fact that D. H. Wesson, one of the makers of revolvers, who died recently, left a fortune of thirty millions of dollars, all made from the manufacture and sale of the pistol bearing his name, and adds: "Thirty millions is a big sum to be charged to a single dangerous and suicidal luxury, and that is what the revolver is. * * * The only purpose which the revolver serves is to kill another man."

This weapon is probably one of the most useless except to meet the requirements of thugs, toughs and cowards of any in the whole category of firearms. It has become worthless in war; it is not fit for the huntsman and its chief association is with murder and assassination. Nearly every offender arrested by the police is found armed with one of these "anarchs among weapons," as another has called them. They are enemies of society and foes to the enforcement of law and order. Their manufacture and sale ought to be forbidden except for official use and only then under the most rigid restrictions.

$50.00 Reward.

I will pay a reward of $25.00 for evidence that will convict the party or parties who have been stealing Linotype metal from the Star building. I will pay a like reward for evidence that will convict the person or persons who bought the stolen goods.

Opposite Postoffice Wilmington, N. C

The greatest problem in the Millinery Department is to show the new ideas of both foreign and home artists first, when successful models and beginning to be generally copied. We discard them and introduce something new. It's a race against time and only a store especially organized for such service can ever hope to accomplish it.

Our Millinery Department has proven tis value to you by the very work we speak of and more new ideas find their introduction here than any other store in this city can boast of. And with all we charge but moderately, never more than other stores, nine times out of ten much less.

We will show over three hundred pattern hats at our opening.

Opening Week in the Suit Department.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, October 2.—It was another sensationally active day in the cotton market with prices scoring big gains after very wide fluctuations and the close strong at a net advance of 50 to 57 points. Sales were estimated at fully 700.000 bales.

The market opened firm at an advance of 5 to 12 points in response to higher cables and further reports of unsettled weather in the belt. There was heavy selling, in fact, sensationally heavy selling on the advance by recent buyers. The Lierpool bulls were evidently reducing their lines and there was selling by spot people and local profesionals. In all it was estimated that some three or four prominent brokers disposed of over 100,000 bales during the first hour. And these offerings were taken up without making any special impression on prices. The buyers were the Southern wire houses and New Orleans, together with some of the Wall street people and in spite of all the pressure the advance was not checked until prices showed a net gain of 35 to 38 points. Then it eased off just before the September condition was published, and after the condition of 71.6 per cent was issued, indicating a deterioration for the month of 5.7 per cent, when the trade had looked for 7 per cent, prices sold off to about the closing figures of the previous day. The census bureau report published an hour later showing 2,044,000 bales ginned to September 25th, against 2,358,000 bales last year, was followed by a second advance, however, of even a more excited and sensational character, which took the market up to a new high level for the day and movement, with December at 10.60 or about 170 points above the recent low level. The close was a little off from the best, under realizing.

Receipts at the ports today 79,319 bales, against 67,303 last week and 69,564 last year. For the week 330,000 bales against 278,845 last week and 351,983 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 14.731 bales, against 4,336 last year and at Houston 25,252 bales, against 27,935 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 30 points advance; middling uplands 10.55; middling gulf 10.80; sales none.

BOTH WELL INFORMED.

An Interchange of Compliments Between Grant and Lee.

Toward the end of the war between the states the value of a well organized scout service came to be fully appreciated by the leaders of both armies. Perhaps no commanders of modern times were better served in this respect than General Grant and General Lee. Both were kept informed daily as to nearly everything that went on within the enemy's lines.

General Gordon relates that one morning toward the end of the long conflict, when the Confederates, officers and men alike, were reduced to unpleasant straits for food, a captain from the Union headquarters went, under a flag of truce, with a communication to General Lee concerning the exchange of prisoners.

"General Lee," said the captain, with a smile, after delivering his message, "General Grant sends you his personal compliments and bids me assure you that he knows exactly what you had for breakfast this morning."

"General Grant must be misinformed as to this," replied General Lee, surveying the message bearer with a sad smile. "General Grant is a generous man, and if he had known with what a breakfast I had to content myself he would certainly have sent me half of his. But give him my compliments," he continued, with a sudden twinkle, "and say that although I do not know as to his breakfast I have full particulars concerning his dinner last night."—Youth's Companion.

SLEEP HABITS OF ANIMALS.

The Monkey Never Loses Its Instinct of Fear.

"When a monkey sleeps he picks out the highest perch he can find," said an animal trainer. "When the only home of the monkey was a forest, he lived always in deadly fear of the lion. A live monkey is the choicest morsel on the menu of the king of beasts. Although the monkey is wise and knows that in a zoo the lions are securely caged, the fear is born in him and he sleeps on the high perch.

"The lioness, when free from family cares, is prone to lie on its back with its legs stretched up straight in the air and paws pendent. The lion, when the excitement of the day is gone, stretches itself out flatly on its side with paws turned in and twitches and throbs during its slumber a good deal like a dog. Gorillas and chimpanzees sleep with their hands over their heads. Bears, which have no fear, sleep in any position. The same is true of wolves.

"Animals of a cunning or cowardly nature, however, are always on the alert, even when asleep. A seal sleeps like a human being. Once in awhile a seal will sit up with its head on its chest, asleep in the water. Its ears are kept under so that he may hear the approach of an enemy, sound traveling with great distinctness under water."

WASHINGTON AS A FIREMAN.

He Was a Member of the Friendship Fire Company.

George Washington was a member of the Friendship Fire company, organized in 1774 in his home, Alexandria. At first the company consisted of citizens who, out of "mutual friendship," agreed to carry to every fire "two leathern buckets and one great bag of oznaburg or wider linnen." Washington was made an honorary member, and when he went as a delegate to the congress of 1774 at Philadelphia he examined the fire engines in use there. On his return to Philadelphia to the Continental congress in 1775 he bought from a man named Gibbs a small fourth class engine for the sum of £80 10s., and just before he set out for Boston Heights to become commander in chief he dispatched this little engine to the Friendship company.

During his younger days he always attended fires in Alexandria and helped to extinguish them. In the last year of his life a fire occurred near the market. He was riding down King street at the time, followed by his servant, who was also on horseback. Washington saw that the Friendship engine was insufficiently manned, and, riding up to a group of well dressed gentlemen standing near the scene of action, he called out authoritatively:

"Why are you idle there, gentlemen? It is your business to lead in these matters."

After which he leaped off his horse, and, seizing the brakes, was followed by a crowd that gave the engine such a shaking up as it had not had for many a day.

WOMAN AND THE LAW.

How Conditions Have Changed In the Last Half Century.

Truly the position of women before the law has suffered mighty changes. Fifty or sixty years ago the twain were indeed one, and that one the husband. He could collect all debts, such as wages that might be due her—though incidentally, he was liable for all she owed. She could not make a will of her real estate, nor of her personal property, without his permission, and he was entitled to the income from her lands. He could lock her up in his house and keep her there. Whether he could inflict chastisement was a moot point, though a judge of the North Carolina supreme court held in 1886 that he possessed this power, provided he used "a stick as large as his finger, but no larger than his thumb."

Over the children the husband had absolute control, and could even appoint a guardian by will who could take them away from the mother. They were to be brought up in the father's religion, without any consideration for her feelings. In fact, it was only about 1886 that the supreme court of judicature in England directed that the sons and daughters of the deceased nawab of Bengal by an English wife be reared as Mohammedans.—Everybody's Magazine.

Whims of Ibsen.

Like many another man great in his writings, Henrik Ibsen was not without his foibles. Scorning company as he professed to do and declaring always for solitude, he nevertheless delighted to be dined, and to invite him to a banquet in his own especial honor was to give the great man unalloyed pleasure. In his latter days, too, he developed a passion for decorations, of which he received a large number from his own and foreign monarchs, and on public occasions he would wear all his insignia as probably the most decorated author in the world. It was on public occasions that Ibsen would carry a small mirror and comb in the crown of his hat, and "coram populo" would proceed to arrange his bushy hair and whiskers.

Politics and Love.

"It's funny," remarked Sandy Bowen, "how politics and love are so much alike. For instance, if you meet a bonnie girl and she gives you half a chance to kiss her you go in for free trade. However, after you get married and your wife's mother wants to embrace her newly acquired son-in-law you go in for protection. If your wife seeks an osculatory exchange you in time become a passive resister, and"—

"She turns out a home ruler if she has any sense," remarked Mrs. Bowen, who happened to overhear the conversation.—London Mail.

Odd Knives.

In a monastery in Ireland there is a very curious collection of knives of the sixteenth century, the blades of which have on one side the musical notes to the benediction of the table, or grace before meat, and on the other side the grace after meat. The set of these knives usually consisted of four. They were kept in an upright case of stamped leather and were placed before the singer.

Too Methodical.

"As for me," said Aunt Clarissa, "I haven't any use for a woman that takes three or four handkerchiefs with her when she goes to see one of these heart interest plays. She's too businesslike and calculating to be the genuine thing."—Chicago Tribune.

Something Wrong.

Mrs.—Am I still "the star of your life," as I was when you used to write love letters to me? Mr.—Of course, dear. Mrs.—I don't seem to be drawing a star salary, though.

SECRETARY TAFT SUCCEEDS PALMA

American Secretary of War Now Occupies Place of Cuban President.

CUBANS CHEER LATE RULER

Disarmament of Insurgents Proceeding Wtihout Hitch—They Are Voluntarily Laying Down Their Arms—Magoon Governor.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Havana, Oct. 2.—Ex-President Palma today vacated the palace here and Governor Taft will take up his residence there during the week. The disarmament proceedings are going on without a hitch in the vicinity of Havana. Elsewhere they have not begun.

While there is some question as to whether the disarmament will be accomplished in Cienfuegos without some friction, no opposition of consequence is anticipated. The news from Cienfuegos, province of Santa Clara, is that the 450 marines from Havana arrived there none too soon, as the situation was threatening, caused partly by the dissatisfaction of the volunteers over the prospect of being disbanded with pay only for the actual time served and partly by the uneasiness of the revolutionists surrounding the city.

The disarmament commisisoners sent from Havana began work today in the vicinity of Santa Clara city, and it is expected that a thousand of Pino Guerra's men will be entrained for their homes in Pinar del Rio province tomorrow from a point near Havana.

Major Tadd, of the disarmament commission, reports that he is having no trouble whatever with the insurgents in Havana province, many of them actually laying down their arms and others retaining their own rifles.

President Palma Cheered.

President Palma's departure from the palace and from the capital of Cuba today was so quiet and unostentatious that it was scarcely realized that he had gone until his special train was traveling eastward.

All the family was visibly affected over the circumstances surrounded their sudden departure in a little more than four months after Palma had been inaugurated under such apparently happy auspices. The family, with the servants following, descended the marble staircase for the last time and walked to the gates at the entrance of the palace. No further adieus were said. The ex-President entered a close carriage which was driven rapidly to the Caballeria wharf, followed by Senor Montalvo in an automobile. The party boarded the department of public works tug Natalie on which they were taken to Regla, the baggage and other effects having al ready preceeded them.

There was not more than a score of persons outside the palace when the ex-President left it and there was very little cheering at the wharf where the family embarked, though several tugs, steamers and government launches gave a parting salute with their whistles.

On arriving at Regla, while passing from the tug to the train, the ex- President was greeted with hearty cheers and cries of 'Long Live Thomas Estrada Palma!" "Long live the honorable man!"

The ex-President acknowledged cordially this appreciation of his services, but he pressed on and quickly boarded the special train in waiting which started for Matanzas almost immediately and as it pulled out of the station cheers for the ex-President were again raised. At this point Mr. Palma made no further endeavor to conceal his pent up emotions.

Today was the first time the ex-President had left the palace since the beginning of the disturbance, August 18, when he came over to Havana from his Summer cottage near Cabanas fortress.

THE PLANS TO SEND TROOPS

Eleven Transports to Leave New York With Men and Cavalry Horses. Length of Occupation Not Definitely Known.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington. Oct. 2.—Secretary Taft cabled to the War Department today requesting that Brigadier General Frederick Funston be designated to command the American troops in Cuba and the military secretary immediately issued an order to that effect. Formal orders were also issued to Brigadier General T. J. Wint, commander of the Department of Missouri, who reached here late today and who is to be in charge of the embarkment of the expedition from Newport News. The order show that the first expedition to Cuba is to be known as the first expeditionary brigade. It is much larger than an ordinary brigade but the War Department has decided to consider it as such. General Wint left tonight for Newport News. It is not expected he will go to Cuba.

Secretary Root has been interesting himself in the Cuban situation since his return to duty in the State Department and in doing so has been going over the diplomatic correspondence that took place between Washington and Havana before Secretary Taft was sent to Cuba by the President. It is quite likely that this correspondence will be made public in a short time in order to give the people of both the United States and Cuba a clear idea of what efforts this government made to avoid intervention. No information has been received in Washington which indicates the length of time that the United States will occupy the Island of Cuba and none of the officials will venture a prediction on this subject, but the presumption is that it will be some time before a stable government can be placed in power and it is expected that meantime a civil government will be appointed to administer the affairs of the island under the Secretary of War. Governor Magoon, who has just returned from Panama and Governor Winthrop, of Porto Rico, have both been mentioned in connection with the governorship of Cuba.

Quartermaster General Humphrey has concluded the charters of eleven vessels which will be used for the transportation of animals from this country to Cuba for the first expeditionary brigade. Their cargoes will consist of horses and mules and the necessary vehicles required. One of them, the Andes. will sail from Tampa with the horses and mules of the light battery of the 14th artillery and two pack trains. The other ten transport will sail from Newport News. Their names and the animals they will carry are as follows:

"Antilles. with 209 animals for the 59th infantry, 11th infantry and 17th infantry; Yumuri, with 206 animals of the 27th and 28th infantry; Cubana, with 250 animals of 11th and 15th infantry; Mobila, with 206 animals of the 17th and 18th mountain batteries; Paloma, with 237 animals of the 2nd battalion of engineers; Laupar. with 214 animals of the medical department and signal corps; Bergen, with 200 horses to be used as officers' mounts; Jacob Bright, with 450 horses o. the 11th cavalry; Taarholm, with 696 horses of the 11th and 15th cavalry; Bayoma, ordered to report to Newport News but her cargo not yet assigned.

The Olivette, a troops transport now at Key West, was chartered today. She will proceed to Tampa and probably will carry the officers and men of the light battery from Fort Sheridan.

Magoon Will Be Governor of Cuba.

President Roosevelt discussed freely today with his cabniet and with individual callers, among whom were Senators Knox and Foraker, the present situation in Cuba and its temporary occupation by the American forces. The matter was talked over at the cabinet meeting but no definite announcement of the result of the deliberations was given out. The President reiterated to the cabinet and to the other callers with whom he talked that the action taken by the American government was destined solely for the benefit of the people of the island with a view to the complete restoration of order and the protection of all interests. He declared that he had no such motive in view as the possible anexation or the government of the island by the United States. What he wanted now was that the Cubans should be given another chance at self-government.

Unless extraordinary conditions arise no extra session of Congress will be called to deal with the Cuban situation, as the President considers he has ample authority to proceed in the matter. It seems to be well settled that former Governor Charles E. Magoon, of the Panama canal zone, who has just returned from Panama, will be appointed governor of the provisional government of Cuba. Governor Magoon is anxious to go to Cuba and his selection for the place is expected to be announced soon. The President expects Secretary Taft to return to Washington in a fortnight or less.

BALLOON RACE WON BY AMERICAN

High Praise for Lieutenant Lahm for Crossing the English Channel.

SAILED 415 MILES VOYAGE

Trip Was Delightful But Had Its Perils—Winner Receives $2,900 and James Gordon Bennett Cup as Trophy.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

London, October 2.—Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, of the Sixth Cavalry, U. S. A., winner of the international balloon race, arrived in London this afternoon from Whitby where he spent the night. The lieutenant and ing the trip. described their voyage as having been most delightful. the weather favoring them from the start until shortly before the finish, when an easterly wind sprang up and took their balloon, the United States, dangerously close to the cliffs near Whitby.

At the start Lieutenant Lahm said a westerly wind carried the balloon over Western France, and then veering northwesterly took her across the channel from just north of Caen to the eastward of Chichester.

They had a beautiful moonlight night for crossing the channel and greatly enjoyed the experience. The balloon was so low and maintained her equilibrium so well that the areonauts were enabled to see persons on the decks of the canal steamers.

After crossing the channel, the wind took the United States almost directly north, along the coast, and had the breeze and the wind continued favorable it would have been no trouble in reaching Scotland. As it was, an east wind sprang up and was carrying the balloon back seaward, so the aeronauts made a leisurely descent, descending not far from the railroad station.

Lieutenant Lahm gives much of the credtit for the success of the United States to Major Hersey's meteorical knowledge.

Lieutenant Lahm and Major Hersey leave London for Paris tonight.

Sails 415 Miles.

Paris, October 2.—All the uncertainty regarding the result of the balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett cup, started from here on Sunday, afternoon, was ended at noon today when a despatch was received by the Aera Club announcing that the Cononel Capper, in the balloon Brittania, landed at Sandringham Upland at 5:30 last night, thus establishing that Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, Sixth Cavalry, U. S. A., the American competitor in the race, who descended near Whitby yesterday afternoon in the balloon United States, is the winner. Lieutenant Lahm covered 415 miles against 370 milev covered by Von Willer, of Italy, his nearest competitor.

The beautiful cup, presented for competition by James Gordon Bennett, becomes a trophy of the Aero Club of America. The first cash prize of 2,900 goes to Lieutenant Lahm and the endurance medal to Mr. Rolls, who was the longest in the air.

Lientenant Lahm's friends are enthusiastic over his victory with the exception of Senor Salamanca, the Spanish aeronaut, Lahm was the youngest competitor.

Santos Dumont says he considers Lieutenant Lahm's trip to be a daring exploit and that Lahm himself is destined to make his mark in the Aernautis world.

Lahm is Only a Boy.

Conton, Ohio, October 2.—Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm is a native of this city. He is the son of Frank S. Lahm, who is a representative of the Typewriter Company and other American machinery comptnies in Paris. Lieutenant Lahm is a gaduate of West Point and is the United States representative at the French cavalry school at Paris.

HEARSTS' ATTACK ON JUDGE PARKER

Charges Distinguished Gentleman With Appearing in Behalf of Election Criminals.

INSULTING AND MALICIOUS

So Judge Parker Pronounces Hearst's Remarks—He Warns the People Against Democratic Candidate for Governor of N. Y.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, October 2.—Judge Alton B. Parker tonight gave out a statement in reply to an attack upon him by William R. Hearst, in a recent campaign speech. In his address Mr. Hearst said that Judge Parker had appeared in an election case on the side of the election criminals in the court he formerly graced and there argued against, and secured a reversal of an opinion he had formerly rendered. Judge Parker's statement follows:

"I should probably pay no more attention to his insulting and maliciously false speech than I have to other atacks. were it not that his speech constituted an attack upon a court with a membership that is not surpassed in this or any other country. While that court is so grounded in the confidence and the affections of the people as to need no defense from any such attack, the opportunity is afforded to warn the people that a man having such conceptions of the judiciary as will permit him to make such as will permit him never to be permitted to name men for the bench, as it is said Hearst contemplates doing under the Murphy-Hearst deal.

"I will refer to one other statement made by Hearst. After stating the fact that I had appeared in the McClellan-Hearst election contest and made arguments therein. he said of the reason that prompted he to do it, he did this because the corporations who employed him as their corporation attorney wanted him to do it and paid him to do it.' This statement is wholly false. Neither I nor any member of my firm was employed by any corporation or paid by any corporation one dollar for the services we rendered in that contest. We were retained by Mayor McClellan but declined to receive from him or any one else any compensation whatever for our services. We offered these services because we believed it to be a duty to prvent Hearst from depriing the majority of the people of the services of their duly elected candidate, George B. McClellan."

ATTEMPT TO LYNCH NEGRO.

One Men Killed and Another Wounded in Mobile.

Mobile, Ale., October 2.—Roy Hoyle, a special officer of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad and one of the most widely known and best liked me nin the vicinity, was fatally sot and Alderman Sidney Lyons, chairman of the city council of Mobile was slightly wounded in the hand ntonight during a fight at the ecounty jail between Deputy Sheriffs and acrowd of men, determined to capture Dick Robinson, a young negro. The mob is still hunting the negro and will lynch him if possible. The negro, who is only 17 years fo age, today attacked Ruth, the 12-yearlold daughter of Blount Sosman, who lives about three miles from here. Robinson was arrested. identified by the girl and brought secretly to Mobile for safe keeping. He was not taken to the county jail at all and was at least eight miles from the city when the mob, determined to have him, approached the building.

Sheriff Powers met the leaders of the mob and informed them that the man they were seeking was not in the jail and had not been brought there. He offered to let anybody whom he personally knew to pass through the jail and satisfy the crowd of the truth of his statement. About forty men walked through the corridors and some of them returned and assured the mob that the man was not there. A portion of the crowd, however, led by a tall raw-boned man whose name is not known, seized a telephone pole which had been blown down in the recent storm and dashed it against the closed part of a double door, one half of which was opened. The door fell with a chash and almost instantly a shot came from a revolver in the hands of a man standing at the gate. About a dozen shots were fired, when there was a stampede on the part of the crowd for shelter. Alderman Lyons who was on the inside of the jail was shot in the hand and Roy Hoyle received a bullet through the left lung.

The crowd learned later that Robinson had been taken to a point eight miles away on the Mobile and Ohio railroad, where he was placed on the train and carried still further. As soon as this was known, fully 300 men boarded the Mobile and Ohio passenger train leaving at 8:25 P. M., with the expressed intention of lynching the negro if they could get hold of him.
